ALBUM LAUNCH PARTY FOR TORTILLA ARMY

TORTILLA ARMY have a limited edition release party for their new "Broken" album at the Waterfront Club in Whitstable on Saturday June 5th, with support from MY THIRD DAY.

To simply call TORTILLA ARMY a 'rock band' only tells a fraction of their story. Formed a little over four years ago, the original line up began life touring the pubs and clubs of the south as a four-piece. The band began to build up a healthy following and released the well-received "A New Journey" CD independently in 2002.

As with all good things, change was around the corner, so when original drummer Chris Jones quit the band, he was replaced by Mik Gaffney, formerly with Lever and Torque. Mik's muscular style dovetailed beautifully and soon the band began penning a whole new collection of tunes, in the process totally revamping their sound and outlook.

When percussionist Colin Lovatt moved to Australia, the band decided to continue as a three-piece made up of Jim Noble (guitarist/vocalist), Sy Morton (bass/vocals) and Mik Gaffney (drums/vocals), with Mik's polyrhythmic drumming more than making up for the missing percussionist.

The new album was recorded live in just two days at Proper Records with the aid of engineer Paul Riley (Dave Edmunds / Elvis Costello).

The summer also looks to be a busy one for Tortilla Army, a band that already perform at least 70 gigs a year, with dates to come with former US Virgin act Moth.

The band are also set to sign for Z Records and the new album will then be officially launched in the autumn when the band play the Z Rock Festival at Liverpool's legendary Cavern Club on September 19th.

At the album launch party, TORTILLA ARMY will also be introducing young virtuoso guitarist JAKE WILSON who stepped in at the last minute so the band could fulfil their appearance at the www.mrgig.com second birthday celebrations at Stripes in Folkestone during April.

TORTILLA ARMY also play at the Walnut Tree in East Farleigh on Thursday June 3rd, the Forum in Tunbridge Wells on Wednesday June 23rd, the East Kent in Whitstable on Friday June 25th and the New Inn, Minster on Friday July 3rd. They are still involved in the Battle of the Bands competition at the Beacon Court in Gillingham. For more information about the band, visit www.tortillaarmy.moonfruit.com

THROWDOWN AT THE LANTERNS

American hardcore band THROWDOWN play at the Lanterns in Folkestone (Rendezvous Street) on Wednesday June 9th. These guys from Orange Country boast an arsenal that includes some of the most visceral, fist-pumping pit anthems to ever emerge from the scene.

Lyricaly, THROWDOWN deliver impassioned pleas for positive thinking, self-realisation and fulfilment. Their live show is a sweaty display of solidarity between brothers and sisters, united through their diversity, and a celebration of independent thought free from mainstream constraints.

Support comes from Canterbury's NOVEMBER COMING FIRE, London's AWOKEN, Brighton's A NEW WAY TO TRUST and Shepway-based experimental electronic dj ELECTRIC:LIFEFORM.

Tickets are £5.50 in advance and can be bought via www.mulletpromotions.co.uk
